CLERK'S ARREST INDICATE "LID" IS NOT TIGHT

Wright A. Salter, Aged 22, Postal Employee at Planters' Hotel, Charged With Embezzlement of $400.

SAYS HE LOST IT ON RACES, IN HANDBOOKS

Since March 3, Prisoner Declares, He Has Been Stealing Sub-Station Funds Which All Went to Chestnut Street Poolroom.

Wright Salter's confession resulted in raids Wednesday afternoon on three downtown handbooks.

Wright A. Salter, 22, a postal clerk at the Planters' House sub-station, was arrested Wednesday at Horn's Hotel, on Pine street, by Postoffice Inspector W. L. Reid on the charge of embezzling money, order and postal funds to the amount of about $400.

Salter says he has lost all of the money since March 3 by betting on horse races at a pool room on the north side of Chestnut street, between Sixth and Seventh streets.

The shortage became known Tuesday at the conclusion of an investigation prompted by the fact that Salter had not made remittances for several days. Inspector Reid called on him at Horn's Hotel, but he was ill from worry over his misstep and was not taken into custody until Wednesday.

According to Salter's statements to his associates, a winning of $600 was what led to his downfall. About the middle of January he had a "shot" with his employer, won on a "6 to 1 shot" and won. He placed $200 in the bank and lost the other $400 by betting on the races from time to time. When that was gone he drew out the $200 and lost it.

He lost the $200 between Feb. 7 and March 5.

On the latter day the receipts were large at the substation and Salter abstracted $185 and played it at the Chestnut street handbook place and lost it. The next day, in the hope of making back what he had lost, he played $150 and lost that. Afterward he played smaller sums, but lost steadily. Of the money taken, $263.12 came from the money order fund and $107.42 from the postal fund.

Salter has been trusted implicitly. He has no bad habits other than the one which has brought about his downfall. He has been in St. Louis three years. His mother lives at Ball Knob, Ark. He has a brother who is an engineer on the Iron Mountain railroad. The prisoner hopes to be able to make up the shortage.

KIELY FALLS BACK ON McGRATH'S REPORTS

When Chief of Police Kiley was asked what he had to say about the statement of Salter that he had been with which did not belong to him at a Chestnut street pawnshop on March 2 and 4, he fell back on Thomas McGrath, in charge of the bombing squad. From among a lot of other reports on the day he picked one dated March 4, signed by McGrath.

It started out, like nearly all such reports, with the expression, "There was no known enemies, and Mrs. William B. Bowers, 22, a student at the University of St. Louis, was her neighbor for several years, says she of an amiable disposition and never quarreled with her."

Mrs. Bowers says Mrs. Milburn left St. Louis every winter for the California coast, where she remained until spring. She was about 20 years old, but was well dressed and in good health. She was tall and slender, and of a high order of intelligence and refinement.

Judge Wurdenman said Wednesday that he had written several letters to Mrs. Milburn asking her to come to the coast, but had heard from none of the relatives she had been received by him and he supposed she had returned to him and he supposed she received them.

Was Married Twice.

Mrs. Milburn came to St. Louis previous to 1870, and was for a few years principal of Oak Hill school. Later, in 1875, she was a widow in St. Louis, and when she married again, her first husband was a man named Kent, who went to the Philippines as a soldier, but is now, it is understood, in California.

Mrs. Milburn's mother, dying in the early 1870s, left $17,000. Soon afterward her father died, and she added to the fortune her father left her.

After 15 years of widowhood, she married William Milburn in St. Louis, but the second marriage was not happy and a divorce was granted a few years later. She and her divorced husband remained separated since the divorce, it is said, but efforts toward reconciliation have been futile.

MISSOURI ROMANCE ENDS IN MANILA

Dr. H. D. Kneeler of St. Louis, and Miss Ethel Mason married there.

News comes from Manila of the marriage of Dr. H. D. Kneeler, formerly of St. Louis, to Miss Ethel Mason, also of Missouri, in Manila, P. I., on Jan. 11. The ceremony took place at the residence of the officiating clergyman, Dr. Steely B. Rosander, and the bride and groom saluted their duty for Hongkong and Japan, to be away for several months.

Dr. Kneeler was at one time surgeon of Light Battery A, St. Louis, with the rank of Lieutenant, but was prevented from accompanying the battery to Porto Rico in the Spanish-American war because of the fact that only an artillery battalion is entitled to a surgeon. He therefore obtained a commission as a regimental surgeon in the volunteer army and served both in Cuba and the Philippines with such distinction that he was several times promoted. He is now a Captain under whom he held rank. At the close of the war he remained in Manila in the practice of his profession.

Miss Kneeler is the sister of Mrs. John R. Edgar of Manila, and it was while visiting that sister that she received word of Dr. Kneeler's arrival, and finally followed this renewal of Missourian friend.

Miss Kneeler's parents are the former St. Louis Battery A, surgeon and the Missouri girl now culminates in marriage.

PARENTS ATTACKED BY MANIAC

GLEN RIDGE, N. J., March 8.—Richard Wakeman, 21 years old, deponent son of John Wakeman, unproven and without parents, sprang from his family and injured his parents here today. It is said that the mother cannot survive, while the father is in a critical condition.

The young man first attacked his mother with a hatchet, cutting two ugly gashes in her head, and then went into the basement where he found his father. A few minutes before the attack he was perfectly docile.

BOY WITH "FALSE-ALARM HABIT" FINED

Oliver McCambridge Says Key to Fire Department Box Started Him on Practices.

Oliver McCambridge, a boy living at 2650 North Ninth street, was fined $50 for turning in a false alarm of fire by Judge Pollard in the Dayton Street Police court yesterday.

George Kisseling of 204 East Gano street, arrested with him on the same charge, was discharged with a warning.

Oliver confessed and said he had been tempted into turning in false alarms through finding a fire alarm box key on Broadway some time ago.

Shortly afterward there chanced to be a little fire in the grass in the O'Fallon park, he says, and he turned in an alarm, using his key. This was on March 6, and Oliver says that he enjoyed "seeing the horses run" so well that same day he "put in" a false alarm from Withers and Second streets, the call being answered by the fifth district department under Assistant Chief William Hillekoster.

Then Oliver acquired the "false-alarm habit," he declared.

On Tuesday afternoon Oliver was seen by Thomas Sterling of 731 Clarence avenue to turn in an alarm from the box at Present and Second avenues, at the time looking at glass as the box was of his new pattern, for which a key is not used.

McCambridge was accompanied by Geo. K. Kline, 1110 North Ninth street, who ran away when the alarm was being turned in. Then the two boys ran from the scene, and the police were sent in the direction of the water, as station.

Sterling had been watching them from the window of his home and he followed them and called a policeman, who arrested them.

Boy Seeks Death After Making Jest Before Parent.

James Hogan, aged 20, of 2807 Papin street, is at the City Hospital recovering from the effects of carbolic acid taken Tuesday night. His father had told him of a proposed trip to the East and the thought of a separation made him so despondent that he left the house and proposed to return.

Returning to the room where his father was playing solitaire, with a jest, he swallowed it and fell to the floor. He will recover.

From the Atlanta Constitution.

A Billyville citizen who had invited a friend to visit him, was surprised at the following directions as to the road:

SIERRA CAMEL, MAKING ITS HOME IN ST. LOUIS, HELPS MILLION CLUB

"MARY," SIBERIAN CAMEL, AND HER BABY.

"Mary" Gave Birth to Fine Calf, the First Ever Born in the City, Which Bleats Out a Welcome to Visitor in Wailing Hoot.

Mary, the great Siberian camel at Hagenbeck's animal show, 2911 Olive street, is doing her best to assist the Million Population Club of St. Louis. Bright and early Monday morning the stork brought her a fine camel baby, the first ever born in St. Louis, and her surprised and gratified keepers tried to raise its infant head for a better look at the visitor and then, to the best of its ability, bleated out a nursery welcome in the peculiar wailing hoot which serves the camel tribe in place of a bellow. Having done these things, big Mary's little baby snuggled up closer to its mother and went to sleep.

Woman Hit by Water at Fire.

Fire among the coal sheds in the rear of 1911 North Fourteenth street early Wednesday morning caused excitement in a crowded block, but was quickly extinguished.

Nobody was hurt but Mrs. Jane Humby, 30 years old, is suffering from the effects of a severe shock, having been inadvertently turned on her.

Firemen were carrying her down from the second floor as a line of hose was being carried through the passages from the first.

The water was turned on just as they reached the bottom of the stairs and struck Mrs. Humby with full force. The origin of the fire is not known.

Mayor's Secretary Stays Fine.

James G. McConkey, secretary to the mayor, has secured a suspension of sentence for James McHale, who was fined $100 in the City Hall Police Court and fined $100 for his offense of loitering in town. McHale immediately after sentence was passed visited the mayor's office and asked for a job. The mayor told him to go steadily for a year, but had been living at the Salvation Army barracks at Ninth and Market streets and was arrested in a police station in court his entry for employment was not accepted. He will be given an opportunity to prove his state-

Mr. C. PUTMAN—Cured of Consumption by Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey.

"I was flat on my back in Cincinnati. It was after ten long, hard months on the road as advance agent for theatres that I could not be up early and late, exposed to all kinds of weather; often soaking wet and chilled to the bone. My health was steadily going to consumption.

An old actor friend recommended Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. I tried it. Felt better the first week. In two weeks the doctor said he needed call again, to keep on taking 'Duffy's' and I'd soon be cured. And I am cured: strong, husky, never been sick since. Duffy's took only four bottles. Have come through another season in perfect shape." C. PUTMAN, care Billboard Publishing Company, Cincinnati, Ohio. July 30, 1904.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

Consumption seldom attacks until the system is run down and weakened by sickness, overwork, worry, exposure or inherited tendencies. The secret of the marvelous success of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey in curing and preventing lung troubles lies in the fact that it's the greatest strengthener and health builder known to medicine. It not only checks the ravages of the disease itself, but replaces the destroyed tissues; helps the stomach to more perfectly digest and assimilate the purest blood that comes from the heart and regulates the circulation of the blood throughout the body, so that the circulation will be strong and perfect, carrying health and vigor to every organ and part of the human body. The idea that a consumptive's only chance for life is to send him to Colorado or California to fret himself to death in the mountains, is ridiculous. The Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is the most effective means of fighting this awful scourge to the human race.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is absolutely pure and free from fusel oil—the only whiskey recognized by the Government as a medicine. It has been prescribed by doctors of all schools of medicine by reliable druggists and grocers everywhere for over 50 years. $1.00 a bottle. Every testimonial is published in good faith and guaranteed. Medical booklet free.

CAUTION.—Be sure you get the genuine Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, manufactured by Duffy's Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y., and put up in sealed bottles, with the "Old Chemung" trade-mark, the label, "It's never sold in flask or bulk." Beware of many substitutes and imitations offered by unscrupulous dealers, because of the extra profit. They not only will not cure, but are positively dangerous.

ARREST FOR THEFT AT BROTHER'S FUNERAL

Niedringhaus Failed to Do More Than Hold His Own and Bolters Find No Fresh Recruits.

Niedringhaus	56
Cockrell	56
Kerr	16
McKinley	5
Bartholdt	5
Warren	2
Dyer	1
Silver	1

Report to the Post-Dispatch—JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., March 8.—There was no change in today's vote for United States senator. Representative R. D. Silver of St. Charles County received Walmaley's ballot. The result was as follows: Niedringhaus, 56; Cockrell, 76; Kerr, 16; McKinley, 5; Bartholdt, 5; Warren, 2; Dyer, 1; Silver, 1.

John, alias "Piggy" McCullough, was arrested at 5425 Arsenal street Wednesday morning while attending the funeral of his brother, Gilbert E. McCullough, who died Monday from injuries received in a automobile accident near the Poorhouse.

A warrant was out for "Piggy" charging him with larceny in connection with the theft of $300 from Agnes Ahlmeier, 113 North Tenth street, about a month ago.

McCullough and five or six companions, it is charged, were attending a party at the Ahlmeier place, and after they left it was discovered that the money was missing.

McCullough's companions were arrested shortly afterward, but the police were unable to find him.

"Piggy" says he is innocent.

Negro Guilty of Murder.

Andrew Wiggins, a negro, was found guilty in the circuit court at Belleville Wednesday of the murder of Michael Beecher at East St. Louis seven months ago, and his punishment was fixed at 15 years. Wiggins, in the presentation for life, Beecher was killed with a billiard cue in a fight in a room.

McCullough's companions were arrested shortly afterward, but the police were unable to find him.

"Piggy" says he is innocent.

John, alias "Piggy" McCullough, was arrested at 5425 Arsenal street Wednesday morning while attending the funeral of his brother, Gilbert E. McCullough, who died Monday from injuries received in a automobile accident near the Poorhouse.

A warrant was out for "Piggy" charging him with larceny in connection with the theft of $300 from Agnes Ahlmeier, 113 North Tenth street, about a month ago.

McCullough and five or six companions, it is charged, were attending a party at the Ahlmeier place, and after they left it was discovered that the money was missing.

McCullough's companions were arrested shortly afterward, but the police were unable to find him.

"Piggy" says he is innocent.

WALL STREET THING OF BEAUTY

Attorney Beck of "The System" Says That Compared With It Grand Canyon Is Small.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
CHICAGO, March 7.—James M. Beck, attorney for "The System" and former government official, gave the Bankers' Club this graphic picture of Wall street as he sees it.

"To me the most impressive place in the world is Wall street. The most remarkable aspect of it is that it is as palatial as the man who has no use for his pulse. Talk about the Grand Canyon of the Colorado—for my part I feel a greater sense of respect and reverence for the great storage tanks of human energy known for the great wonders of nature.

"Call it avarice if you will," he said, "as a miser went around his room, all day long, with a job of men in this day and age is the toll for money. They may sleep at Russell Sage and Mr. Rockefellers' door, but I have seen a number of them who could spend the salary of either of these men. Let them sneer at accumulated wealth, but say the only evil million is the idle million."

"I came near buying an auto at the show—that so?"
"Yes, I'd have bought one if I had the money."

SENATE PASSES BILL TO REDUCE FREIGHT RATES

Cut on Some Commodities Will Be 35 Per Cent and Railroad Attorneys Think They Can Defeat Law in Supreme Court.

AUTHOR OF THE BILL TO BE DENIED BENEFIT

Senator McGrew, Who Operates Coal Mines, Hears Amendment Passed Eliminating Coal From Bill—Vote Comes as Surprise.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., March 8.—For the first time in a generation, the Missouri Senate has passed an enough freight bill. It is a sure enough freight reduction bill, so much so that railroad lawyers think they can beat it in the Supreme Court on the ground that it is unreasonable.

The bill has passed the House, but some changes were made in the Senate, so it must go back to the Lower House for its concurrence.

The chief amendment was the one the author least expected. It cut him out of all participation in the advantages shippers are entitled to get out of the enforcement of the law, if the bill ultimately becomes a law.

The author of the measure is J. C. McGrew of Lexington. He is the principal mine operator in the Lafayette County coal fields and has been fighting for lower rates for coal for at least ten years.

Six years ago McGrew spent the winter here urging the passage of his bill and since that time he has been here as regularly as his old-time opponent, W. H. Phelps, who has contested every inch of ground with him again and again.

In the House bill the Senate passed today McGrew had provided specially favorable rates for the Lexington mines.

Under the present schedule the rate from Lexington to Kansas City is 55 cents a ton.

The rate for the Rich Hill mines that produce a similar coal is exactly the same. Lexington is a few miles less than 50 miles from Kansas City, while Rich Hill is about 90 miles.

Under the terms of McGrew's bill as it passed the House, the coal rate from Lexington would have been 60 cents a ton.

When the bill was before the committee, coal operators from Kansas City who have mines in other counties came here and fought the bill on the ground that it would discriminate against them.

Coal Schedule Cut Out.

Today the Senate, when it got ready to pass the bill, adopted an amendment by Senator Humphrey cutting out the coal schedule altogether.

Humphrey's district includes the Beaver and Novinger mining districts, and he made a showing that the bill would shut coal from his counties out of the Kansas City market.

The Senate accepted the amendment and passed the bill by nearly 18 votes.

The bill, as it stands, applies only to the heavier classes of freight in car-load lots.

The things affected it makes reductions that amount to 35 per cent in some instances.

The railroad commissioners have a new schedule that they expect to put into effect in a few days. The reduction is 15 per cent below the present maximum rates and the board was in Kansas City only last Friday attending to complaints that it is too high.

The commissioners are not doing any things not mentioned in the bill, but a comparison on a few can be made.

On the bill, the rate from Sedalia to Kansas City, 90 miles, as fixed in the commissioners' rates, will be 85 cents, while the bill makes it 65 cents per 100 pounds.

On flour the commissioners are 10 cents per 100 pounds in fair for 100 miles, while the bill makes it 8 cents.

Livestock for the same distance is figured at 20¢ a car by the commissioners, but the bill makes a rate that amounts to 10¢ a car for the same distance.

Agricultural implements are reduced in about the same proportion, from 25¢ a car to 12¢ a car.

There are some cases where the present rates do not come up to the maximum fixed by the commissioners for the new rates, but there are a great many more where they are higher than the figures just given, as the new rates have not taken effect. But the cases are few, where the rates are as low as those fixed in the bill.

Flour, grain, salt, lime, lumber and all things that take the same rates as the commodities in the schedule of the bill to be carried for 5 cents per 100 pounds for the first 25 miles and not more than 1¢ per cent per 100 for the next and each succeeding 25 miles.

Livestock in standard-size cars is to be carried for 5¢ per car the first 25 miles and not more than 1¢ per car the second 25 miles.

Beyond that distance the rate shall not be more than 3¢ per car for each 25 miles.

Vote a Surprise.

The vote on the bill was a surprise to everybody. There was considerable discussion on the amendments that were offered, but most of them were voted down. Senator Morton sent to the president's desk a bill that looked big enough to make 500 separate petitions. He said they were petitions from his constituents, asking for the passage of the bill. Morton was the only senator that sent up petitions and it is said that this is the only district that took much interest in the bill. He voted for the bill on the roll call.

Senator Phelps was in the building when the bill passed and when asked about the bill he said:

"It reduces the rates 30 per cent. They are all made lower than they were."

Mr. Gilmore, of Kansas City, Clark voted against the bill and Gilmore for it. Gilmore said tonight: "I don't know enough about rates to know whether the bill is fair or not, but I do know that many Kansas City people urged me not to vote for the bill, but they ought to be a majority in this country to force me to vote for it if it was fair and I do not know whether it is fair or too low. It is too low, it cannot be enforced now and we can correct it as soon as we find that to be the case."

No Consumption in Mines.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WILLIAMSBURG, Pa., March 8.—In a paper presented to the Luzerne County Medical Society, Dr. Wainwright of Scranton declared that the miners of the coal-making districts are practically immune from tuberculosis. He finds that the tubercle bacilli do not flourish in mine air, and that the miners are protected by lungs by stimulating the connective tissue growth and thus repelling the bacilli.

55 COTTAGE ST., MELROSE, MASS.
DEAR SIR: JAN. 11th, 1904.
Dear Sir: I was in the Arctic, I had more or less kidney trouble, and within the first year it became so severe and complicated that I fear it would be fatal if I had not been so strong and energetic and was much alarmed.

I saw an advertisement of Swamp-Root and took it, and within a few days of the first use of the medicine and noted a decided improvement after taking Swamp-Root only a short time.

Concerning the price of the medicine, I am not sure, but I paid 50¢ a bottle and was pronounced all right and in splendid condition.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold at drug stores the world over in bottles of two sizes and two prices fifty cents and one dollar. Remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything, but it promptly cures kidney trouble.

SPECIAL NOTE.—In order to prove the wonderful merits of Swamp-Root you may have a sample bottle and a book of valuable information, both sent absolutely free by mail. The book contains many of the thousands upon thousands of testimonial letters received from men and women cured. The value "ad success of Swamp-Root are so well known that readers are advised to send for a sample bottle. In sending your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure to say you read this generous offer in the St. Louis Daily Post-Dispatch. The genuineness of this offer is guaranteed.

WANTS $100,000 FOR PROMISE

Millionaire Contractor of Knoxville Sued by Woman He Did Not Marry.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., March 8.—Miss Nonie Cross, formerly of Atlanta, Ga., but now resident of this city, has instituted suit for $100,000 in the Federal court here against W. J. Oliver, a millionaire railroad contractor.

A year ago Miss Cross instituted a similar suit in the City court here, but it was kept from the newspaper press, just as this suit was to have been tried at this time. Miss Cross withdrew it and simultaneously filed suit for $100,000 in the Federal court, in order to make the property of the defendant in other states come to be reached to satisfy a possible judgment.

Miss Cross sued for alleged breach of promises to marry and on other grounds. She is the widow of Oliver, introduced her as his wife in Atlanta and other cities.

GOVERNOR GREETS ST. LOUISANS

D. R. Francis and Party See Mardi Gras With Mayor and Gov. Blanchard.

NEW ORLEANS, March 8.—That the era of prosperity has just dawned in the Mississippi river valley was the sentiment voiced in unison yesterday by the governor of Louisiana and the former governor of Mississippi. The two governors, together with David D. Francis and his party of St. Louisans at the St. Charles Hotel. The gathering included Mayor Behrman, who accompanied Mr. Francis; Mrs. Blanchard, wife of the governor; and the St. Louisans who were dining and in the evening saw the famous Opera House.

The St. Louisans witnessed the Mardi Gras parade and in the evening saw the famous Opera House.

Inspectors Want Leonard Johnson,
Held for St. Charles Station Robbery.

Postoffice Inspector John D. Sullivan will ask the county authorities of St. Charles County to turn over to the government Leonard Johnson, who is held in St. Charles on a charge of robbing the Wabash station agent there.

A charge of blowing the safe and robbing the postoffice at Beebe, Ark., Jan. 28, will be leveled against him.

Inspectors and city detectives are also looking for George Lowe, Johnson's friend, who was given hours to leave the city Tuesday.

Tuesday afternoon Policeman Sheehan found a valise in a rooming house at Chouteau and 14th streets. It contained postage stamps to the amount of $55.55, besides $100 in cash and a $100 bill.

There was also a letter addressed to the postmaster at Beebe, Ark.

Johnson was held Friday night on a car at Fourth and Market streets. Lowe was arrested on Eighth street near Chouteau and was held.

It is worth considerable to St. Louis to know the value of and use of a medicine, for if there is no occasion to employ it, in the meantime frail humanity is subjected to so many influences and unforeseen contingencies that the wise are totally unable to gauge the future. Know then that Doan's Ointment will cure any case of hemoroiditis, commonly known as piles, or any disease of the cuticle or skin, generally termed eczema.

Mr. Coove Kraymer, retired carpenter, of 2223 Warren street, Seventeenth ward, says: "I did not know exactly what it was called, but from a description given in an advertisement about Doan's Ointment I thought I had eczema on my legs and body. They itched me so bad that I could not sleep, and scratching to get relief made matters worse. I tried a number of preparations and even consulted a physician, who did me little if any good. Doan's Ointment came to my notice through an advertisement and my daughter went to 'Wolff-Wilson's' corner Sixth and Washington avenue, for a box. It gave me relief the first night, and in a few days cured completely."

TIME HUNG HEAVILY ON THIS BOY'S LIP

Harry Lewis, Aged 10, Used
Novel Means to Investigate
Insides of Alarm Clock.

TO FEEL WHEELS GO ROUND

Sister, Neighbors, a Doctor, Dentist and Watchmaker Worked to Pry It Loose.

Harry Lewis, aged 10 years, was the reigning hero of the Webster School, East St. Louis, Wednesday, when he made his first appearance since he investigated the masking of alarm clocks so closely that his lips were caught in the cog wheels. To groups of admiring boys and girls, Harry pointed out the place where the hole had been cut through his lower lip and told of his very painful experience. Also of the efforts of his sister, the neighbors, a doctor, dentist and watchmaker to release him.

The clock Harry had investigated was the back and works of a discarded alarm clock that he had saved from total destruction that he might satisfy his mechanical turn of mind. The front and sides of the clock were gone and the wheels were all in plain view and of easy access. This is the story Harry told his playmates:

"The old clock would run down quickly when I wound it up and it tickled my fine fine when I put it where the cog wheels could touch them I always did that after the clock was going on."

"Last Friday, guess I put it too close and my lip got caught and it hurt awful. I wasn't going to say anything, but I just had to tell the truth. I tried to move backward, but it wouldn't and she took me to the street to Mrs. Bundy's corner. She was mighty careful, cause it hurt when it jolted."

"Mrs. Bundy and the girls that boarded there all thought it was funny. Mrs. Bundy took me to Dr. Culbertson's office, but he couldn't fix a clock any more than the girls could. He came up and I showed him the hole and he looked at it and talked about getting his plasters, but Dr. Culbertson said it might pull my lip off."

"Then Mrs. Culbertson she's grown up and she said, 'Mrs. Bundy, I took you to Dr. Culbertson's office, but he couldn't fix a clock any more than the girls could.' He came up and I showed him the hole and he looked at it and talked about getting his plasters, but Dr. Culbertson said it might pull my lip off."

"The girls once told something about a clockmaker and they sent downstairs for Grier Miller, who makes watches. He came up and I showed him the hole and he said, 'There are a lot of people in St. Louis who want racing, and I think there are enough sensible men in the Senate to understand that.'

"Now, understand, I don't favor the retention of the breed," I say, "in the statute books by me, but it's the statute books on account of the people who want amusement. The sanctimonious people want only the kind of amusement nobody else can see. Other people want amusement like horse racing."

"Now, personally, I don't like Cella, Adier and Tilles. I have no use for them. Tilles, you know, is the fellow who would not race at Kinloch park. I went to him and told him that I wanted to race at Kinloch park."

"He said, 'Colonel, you can have thirty days' racing here-on nights and Sundays.'

"And we haven't had any racing there since. But I'm not kicking about that. I had only $5000 invested in the Kinloch track."

"Even though I don't like Tilles, Adier and Tilles, I still like racing. I like to race in St. Louis than have St. Louis without any racetracks. A big city without any racetracks is like a body without a soul."

"I like to race, but I don't like anything else. Cella, Adier and Tilles run racing tracks, except what I see in the news-papers."

Bill for New City Charter

Delegate Block Introduces Measures Providing for Election,
Sept. 12.

Delegate William A. Block of the Eleventh ward introduced the bill in the House of Delegates Tuesday night providing for a special election to name 16 freeholders, who will prepare a new charter for St. Louis.

Under the new charter the new charter will be voted upon Sept. 12.

Block said that if there was no delay the new charter would be adopted at the first meeting of the new freeholders.

Delegate John R. Fontana introduced a resolution asking for a record of all building permits issued by Mayor Ward pending the adoption of the new city charter.

The city register will furnish the desired information.

OUR Fifty-sixth Formal Spring Opening and Anniversary Celebration takes place on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. It will be the premier style event of the season, delineating the new fashions on a scale grander and more comprehensive than ever before.

That degree of excellence which at all times characterizes this store is strikingly and forcibly illustrated by the great variety and beauty of the new goods displayed, and by the very low prices at which they are offered.

Spring opening, 1905, carries with it a double import. It marks the completion of a quarter of a century in our present building, and of fifty-six years' business in St. Louis. The rapid and steady growth which has at all times characterized this store has been the result of honorable and upright dealing, with a never ceasing effort to please, and of always offering the very best merchandise at the lowest prices.

The opening continues three days, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. We bid you all welcome.

Shirt Waists and Infants' Wear

THE artistic, the beautiful and the practical have been combined in these Shirt Waists to a surprising degree, while the prices are conspicuously reasonable, as an investigation will prove.

FIGHT ON TERMINAL FAILS IN ILLINOIS

GOT $10 BILL FOR TWENTY CENTS

Resolution Asking Investigation of Taxable Property Reports to Be Buried in Committee.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 8.—The Illinois Senate committee this morning found a peaceful resting place in the revenue committee for Senator Bartley's resolution to investigate the Terminal Railroad Association of St. Louis, on charges that it made improper reports of its property in Illinois to the state auditor for assessment by the state board of equalization.

The Senate has an easy faculty of burying in committees such resolutions, and it is doubtful if the terminal investigation will be heard of again during the session of the Legislature.

The reference to committee was made by viva voce vote, and not a single voice was raised in opposition.

Senator Bartley called up the resolution, which has been before the Senate for ten days, and made a half-hearted speech in favor of immediate action. Although there had been no public suggestion that the Senate combine had framed up things to defer this resolution, Bartley's speech made it appear that he knew where he was in advance of what was coming.

He produced a tabulated statement combining the reports made by the Terminal Association, one to the railroad and warehouse commission, the other to the state auditor for taxation, and the figures showed conclusively that some gigantic fraud had been perpetrated upon the state of Illinois; that it should be investigated, and that the committee in committee would be disastrous to the resolution.

Senator Humphrey moved the reference to the revenue committee.

"CONDUCTOR DID HIS DUTY."

Manager McCulloch Discusses the Case of Girl Put Off Car.

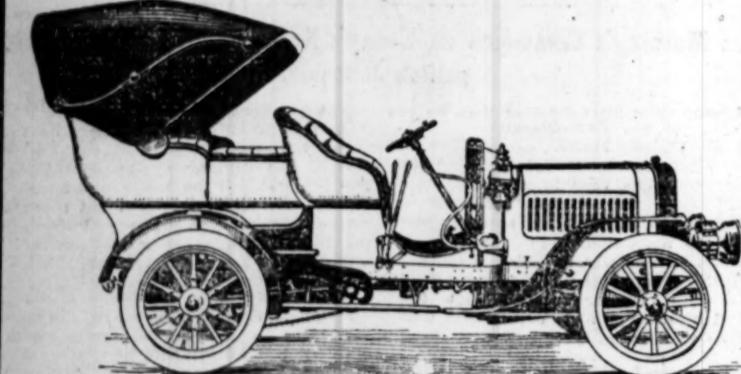

After having received a report from the conductor of the car from which Miss Myrtle Stockton, a McKinley High School pupil, says she was ejected for refusal to pay an additional fare after riding around the city, the manager of the car, and general manager of the United Railways, said Wednesday:

"The conductor shows that the young lady boarded a Cointreau avenue car, going east, at Tenth street, and gave the conductor a quarter from a power coin. The car stopped its case, and the conductor asked her for another fare, as the case was empty. She refused to pay. She did not say anything about having only ridden around the loop. He told her she could not ride with him, and when she got off, she left the car. The conductor used no violence."

"I don't think the conductor should have a power coin, but he did. He might have exercised discretion and permitted her to ride, but he did what he thought was his duty."

The Complete Line of 1905 POPE-TOLEDOS

Is Now Ready for Your Inspection.

The wonderfully powerful, sweet-running, quiet, flexible and absolutely controlled Pope-Toledo engine transmits its Power to the Wheels by our Double Chain, Direct Drive System to an unbroken rear axle. A system of drive that in point of efficiency and desirability, and from every other standpoint, cannot be compared to the bevel-gear for high-powered cars except to the everlasting detriment to the latter. We lose no power through driving shaft at an angle; waste no strength where strength is most needed, by dividing rear axle. Better repair a link in a chain than a broken rear axle or propeller-shaft. Ours is the only system permitting change of gearing to meet road conditions for flat or mountainous roads. If there is an automobile in the world that has literally "Direct Drive" it is the Pope-Toledo, for it drives absolutely direct on high speed without a single idle gear in mesh.

Here is a claim which we wish to make as broad, sweeping and final as the English language can express it: A regular stock-model Pope-Toledo Touring-car, taken from any garage, will easily exceed in speed, hill-climbing or endurance, any regular stock-model car of its h.p. made in this country or in Europe, regardless of make or price.

Get a copy of our 1905 catalogue which contains the Pope-Toledo speed, hill-climbing and endurance record, proving it the fastest, most powerful, reliable and easiest controlled automobile in the world.

Two Lines in Post-Dispatch "Lost Column" Brought Results in Few Minutes.

Twenty cents invested in a Post-Dispatch "want ad" Saturday brought $10 return

O. L. Kincheloe, city solicitor for a surety company in the Chemical building, was the investor.

While passing along Olive street, near the postoffice, Friday evening about 6 o'clock, Mr. Kincheloe lost a $10 bill. An hour or so later he discovered his loss and advertised in a morning paper. There were no replies.

Next morning he put a two-line advertisement in the Post-Dispatch, giving his telephone number. A few minutes after the home edition of the paper was on the streets he received a telephone call from a man staying at the Madison Hotel, saying he had found the money.

Twenty cents invested in a Post-Dispatch "want ad" Saturday brought $10 return

Some months ago he had a gun which he wanted to exchange for a bicycle. A two-line advertisement in the Post-Dispatch brought half a dozen people with bicycles to his home before breakfast Sunday morning and the transaction was made before noon. He was given $100 more offers; and next day he found at his office a score of letters answering the advertisement.

INVESTIGATE "GRAFTING."

Rumors concerning an investigation of alleged "grafting" in the tenderloin district, said to have been begun by the grandjury, were revived Wednesday by the appearance of two police sergeants and patrolmen of that district as witnesses before the grandjury.

These witnesses were Sergeants John Hoffman and John Connor and Patrolmen Adolphus and Harry Vollman, who duty in the district bounded by Twenty-first streets, Jefferson avenue, Market and Pine streets. They were present in the district before the investigating body.

Mr. Hoffman said, and several more are said to have been summoned to appear Thursday.

"NOT FIT TO BECOME CITIZEN"

Giuseppe Diapio, an Italian living at 220 North Market street, was refused naturalization papers by Judge Taylor in the Circuit court Wednesday morning because of his lack of knowledge of the country's institutions and form of government.

"If you haven't enough interest in the man to learn these things," said the court, "you are not fit to be a citizen."

There have been frequent cases lately in which Italian applicants for naturalization, coming from the same section of the city, have been refused their papers on similar grounds.

Incendiaries' Work in Two Catholic Churches Is Mystery Still and Explained Only in Theories

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH,
16TH AND CHESTNUT.

Were St. John's and St. Ann's Fired by Pyromaniac, or Is There an Ultra-Anarchistic Circle in St. Louis to Wage War on Religious Bodies—Archbishop Glennon Not Much Disturbed

The recent attempts to burn St. John's Catholic Church at Sixteenth and Pine streets, and the four simultaneous blazes started in St. Ann's Catholic Church at the intersection of Whittier and Page boulevards Sunday afternoon, have put up the police for the arrest of the incendiaries, and the discovery of the motives which led to the attempted destruction of the churches.

Wednesday those interested in the investigation being made by Father McDonald, the rector of the church, and his assistant, Father Mulvihill, said that no clues directing the slightest suspicion had been discovered.

Were they the work of one man or the representatives of a party or circle?

Did a pyromaniac start the fires?

Was it the latter crime the result of suggestion induced by the firing of St. John's Church?

Is there an ultra-socialistic or anarchist circle in St. Louis, the members of which are pledged to wage war on the religious bodies?

Was it the work of an unchurched person?

Was it the act of a weak and demented religious fanatic?

All these possibilities have been suggested by those most familiar with the crime, and, besides arresting the criminal or criminals, they are questions for the police to answer.

Systematic Attempt.

The burning of St. Ann's church Sunday afternoon between the hours of 1 and 2 o'clock was apparently systematic and had not been started on a weak day when the church might have been desecrated.

St. Ann's is not built above the basement, in which services are held. It stands on the southeast corner of Page boulevard and Whittier street, with the rector's house at the south end. In the south end of the church room is the altar and sacristy; opposite at the north end is the choir. In the northwest corner is the vestibule and entrance.

The first fire was probably started in a drawer of a wardrobe in the sacristy. The sacrament cloth of the west end of the altar rail was ignited by a candle taken from a candleholder close at hand. The incendiary then went to the north end of the church, a distance of 50 feet and applied a match to a pile of sheet music on a stand close to the organ. A loosely woven red silk and cotton curtain of the confessional of Father McDonald, standing close to the door, was fired in two places by means of matches. The criminal then escaped.

Sexton McGee opened the church at 1 o'clock and went to the boiler room, which is in the extreme south end of the church. About half an hour later a woman rang the bell of the rector and told the housekeeper, who responded, that the church was full of smoke. Father Joseph F. Mulvihill, assistant rector, was summoned and

"ADVERTISE" TO GET POPULATION OF ONE MILLION FOR ST. LOUIS

The competitors for the Post-Dispatch $500 prize for the best suggestion as to how St. Louis may be a city of a million population in the shortest period of time continue to keep up a fullblown contest on the subject. The names of the contestants are sending in a new letter with a new idea or a new way to carry out their previous suggestion, showing the deep interest that the public is taking in the proposition.

"Advertise" was a method that had many supporters in the late mails Tuesday and early letters of Wednesday and several carried out their suggestions with pertinent suggestions as to the means of carrying out the idea.

In sending letters be sure to address them to "Editor, St. Louis Post-Dispatch," as much time is thus saved in their reaching the proper place where they may be classified, dated and numbered for the convenience of the committee who will pass on the suggestions.

Write on one side of the paper only and confine the letter to a single suggestion and the means of carrying it out.

Several have suggested the newspapers as a medium to advertise the many advantages of St. Louis as a city to come to. This is one of them:

"Advertise St. Louis in every conceivable manner, but the most effective will be through the press."

"My suggestion is that the leading St. Louis dailies have one issue each month known as the 'Million Club Issue.' Let every patriotic St. Louisian in business contribute as much space as he can use, and devote it to what he has to sell. Each will be entitled to as many free copies as he advertises, and the advertising space will be determined by the amount of space he advertises."

"The advertising will then send them to such people as their judgment may dictate."

"The newspapers, in addition, must send copies of each of these special issues to a list selected by themselves. Each issue must represent everything that St. Louis has to offer, and the advertising must be much descriptive matter, which may or may not be paid for by the city of St. Louis."

"The mailing list must include outside manufacturers, buyers, trade unions, banks, capitalists, merchants, and other prolific advertising men, and a fund for the further distribution of these papers would greatly increase the effect."

"The power of the press has been very great if it has understood, so let the advertising

H. W. Ocker, 116 South Fourteenth street, is an advocate of the removal of the bridge arbitrary. He says:

"This city is handicapped in railroad facilities, although we have abundant railroads here to accommodate the fast-growing population. The suggestion of Thomas A. Grace, 327 North Vandeventer, that a bridge be built across the Missouri river, has been suggested in regard to increasing the population of this city, and many persons have been desirous of having a bridge built across the river, but the railroad has always stood in the way. A clean bill of lading and from St. Louis to the east, and from the east to St. Louis, is the only way to get the railroad across the river. The railroad map, as it is now, the cars are held in St. Louis, the delay in trans- porting the goods, a great loss to the city, and the loss of freight from New York, to the great annoyance and loss of our business."

"The wrong and old-time systems should be abolished at once, and the new system will be adopted when the railroad monopoly will cease."

All railroads entering this city should have their local freight office and yards near the city, and the cars should be held in St. Louis, and the bridge should be removed from the railroad map. As it is now, the cars are held in St. Louis, the delay in transporting the goods, a great loss to the city, and the loss of freight from New York, to the great annoyance and loss of our business."

MEN WHO SUPPORT THE GAMBLERS.

Senators who are tempted to vote against the bill repealing the racetrack gambling law, must stand up and be counted with the following men who constitute the backbone of the gamblers' support:

MORTON, known as the king of the lobby; FRANK H. FARIS, indicted on a charge of bribery; NELSON, prize-ring announcer, saloon keeper, employee of the racetrack and under indictment for running a poolroom in Madison, Ill.; REICHMAN, saloon keeper and several times indicted; SARTORIUS, saloon keeper; W. B. KINEALY, elected with the aid of the racetrack gambling interests and their thick-and-thin supporters.

What do these men represent?

Beginning with scandal, our Panama canal may give the newspapers a good deal more copy than will be necessary to describe its building.

EDUCATION AND THE POLICE POWER.

A Massachusetts law requiring certain street car companies to carry public school pupils going to and returning from school at half the regular rates has been sustained by the Supreme court. The law was attacked on the ground that it did not apply to all roads in the state and that it deprived the companies of their property without due process of law.

The court held, however, that the statute was an exercise of the police power in the interest of education.

The police power has been invoked for all sorts of purposes, but as a prop to education it is something new. To a layman not accustomed to legal reasoning it begins to look as if this power were the seminal principle of development which makes progress possible, even under the most inflexible constitutions. But many surprises may lurk in it.

Postmaster-General Corryou, on assuming office yesterday, announced that he will within a few days retire from the chairmanship of the Republican national committee—an eminently proper proceeding.

EPIDEMIC OF MARRIAGE AMONG TEACHERS.

It is officially announced that 16 teachers in the Englewood (N. J.) public schools will marry in June and retire from school work. Elizabeth, N. J., reports 18 vacancies for the same reason.

The demoralization hence ensuing is matter for grave concern in Jersey. And in New York City matrimony has produced widespread disorder in the Board of Education. Legislation is demanded authorizing boards to dismiss any woman teacher who marries.

Jersey and New York are not the only sufferers, however. It is one of the difficulties which must be taken into account in public school management, since there never will be a time when teachers will not marry.

But does not the propensity of women teachers to marry suggest an escape from the feminization of the schools which so many educators deplore? Why not fill the vacancies with men until the balance is redressed? Out of the very large numbers of college graduates turned out every year there ought to be found a supply of young men to whom the teaching profession can be made alluring.

The self-restraint of Mr. Parady Payne, who has been a barker all his life, and who mixed drinks at the Galt House in Louisville in the days of the Throckmorts, amazes the nation. Though 76 years old, and a barkeeper 50 years, he has never tasted beer, whisky or any beverage considered intoxicating, and he has never chewed or smoked tobacco or played a game of cards. The truly good are not all in the congregations.

POLITICAL UNREST IN EUROPE.

European politics seem to be in a state of general turmoil. Within a few weeks new cabinets have been formed in France, Spain and Greece. Although it is more than five weeks since Premier Tisza was beaten at the polls, the Emperor Francis Joseph, after consultation with all the Hungarian political leaders, has been unable to induce any one of them to undertake the formation of a new cabinet. Today the Diet will meet without a government.

Last week a ministerial crisis was precipitated at Christiania by the demand of the Norwegian party that a separate consular system for Norway be established. Premier Hagerup, who stands for a close union with Sweden, has resigned and asked the regent, Crown Prince Gustaf, to intrust his Separatist colleagues with the formation of a cabinet.

Because of the premier's falling health the Goliotti cabinet has quit office in Italy. The Socialists, who were badly beaten at the recent elections, have been stirring up trouble among the government railroad employees, and have presented a solution of the railroad problem to which Goliotti was committed.

On a vote on the army question, Balfour's nominal majority of 81 has fallen to 24. Another by-election, the second in three weeks, has resulted in the loss to the government of a seat in Parliament. And now the threatened defection of the Ulster Unionists, who are incensed by the conciliatory policy of Sir Anton MacDonnell, under-secretary to the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, toward the Nationalists, has precipitated the retirement of Mr. Wyndham, chief secretary for Ireland. Between Balfour and Chamberlain the Conservatives are so disorganized that any day may bring their downfall.

There is one sinister and menacing political factor in the organization back of the Wells campaign. That is the racetrack gambling interest, represented by Mr. Hawes, who is the attorney of the racetracks. The gambling interests are too deep in St. Louis politics now and, unless the breeders' law is repealed, the people of St. Louis cannot but regard with distrust a racetrack influence in the city administration. Mayor Wells and his associates would have to repudiate any connection with the gambling interests.

THE GAMBLERS' ULTIMATUM.

Never in the shameful history of the Missouri lobby has there been a more disgraceful and audacious lobby act than that of the gamblers' ring in delivering to Gov. Folk an ultimatum to the effect that the success of his anti-bribery bill and of other measures in which he was specially interested, depended upon his acceptance of the Kansas City compromise bill, permitting gambling on racetracks.

In effect this was a notice to the Governor that the Gamblers' syndicate owned a majority of the State Senate and could dictate its action not only upon the repeal of the racetrack gambling law, but upon other bills in order to lash the Governor into line with the gamblers' interests.

In the beginning of Gov. Folk's administration, after a great victory of the people over the boddie lobby and the forces of corruption, the lobby power rises again and the Governor is met with a threat that all he stands for and has fought for, all that the people who supported him voted for, is to fall at the will and word of the gamblers' ring.

The power of the gamblers' lobby to carry out its threat is indicated by the report from Jefferson City that five senators, practically pledged to vote for repeal, had indicated in interviews that they have changed their minds and would support the gamblers' substitute bill. These five senators were E. A. Dowell of Lewis County, L. D. Hicks of Saline County, Charles J. Walker of Boone County, J. W. Peck of Westboro, and C. W. Clarke of Kansas City. All of these senators had previously declared openly that they were opposed to the granting of gambling privileges on racetracks.

In view of this sudden change of the situation it is impossible not to take account of the sinister influences at work in this city and Jefferson City to defeat the repeal bill and retain the racetrack gambling privileges. The confident and oft-repeated assertion of the gamblers and their tools that the Senate was all right for racetrack gambling and would defeat repeal becomes significant.

Gov. Folk's action in accepting the gage of battle thrown to him by the gambling syndicate was to be expected. It is his battle and the battle of the people who support him. The success of his administration depends now upon the defeat of the lobby. He must fight it with unceasing vigor until every remnant of the gambling ring is destroyed.

In the foolish and unnecessary war in the East, more than 50,000 men have been killed or wounded. The expansion greed is a destroyer of both men and morals.

If the Senate amends the Santo Domingo treaty will President Roosevelt throw it into the waste basket along with arbitration treaties?

This Morning's Comments on Today's News by the Leading Metropolitan Journals.

By Leased Wires from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 8.—Besides the more widely discussed diplomatic appointment which has been in a measure foreseen," says the World, "Mr. Roosevelt should be commanded for naming Henry White as ambassador to Italy, W. W. Rockhill as minister to China, and David J. Hill as minister to the Netherlands. These men in their several ways have gained knowledge and experience which will be valuable in neutral territory."

The Kansas Legislature, having demanded that "some competent person" be selected to conduct the coming Standard Oil inquiry, the Evening Post says: "The legislators of course know what they want the investigation to disclose. All they ask is that the Federal authorities give official confirmation of their presentiments. Steps ought to be taken at once to make the oil report more readable. The surest way will be for the bureau of corporations to appoint a set of special investigators, including, merely as suggestions, Thomas W. Lawson and Alfred Henry Lewis."

The Press (Republican) says that no President ever fixed a higher standard of merit and achievement for the office than Mr. Roosevelt, and that it is "typical of such sections, therefore Europe, therefore Ellis Island, therefore a list of 12,818 alien arrivals in three months" of whom 17,128 above the age of 14 could neither read nor write.

"Well, the world is for those who live in it. Armenian, Bohemian, Croatian, Italian, we may be, but Americans we still continue in purpose and motive and sympathy. The sons of revolutions may characterize themselves the more proudly for their increasing scarcity, but to the sons of evolution—to him who is not merely fit but willing to survive—belongs the future of America."

The Foolish Craze for the Amazon. Just now there is a craze to go to the Amazon river to make quick fortunes. Young men with from $50 to $100 capital are on the way there to mine coal, cut hard woods, raise cattle and grow rubber. The Amazon country has been cracked up to be an El Dorado. It is in reality an aging, infirm, ailing, fatigued, and decrepit. North Americans know absolutely nothing about the mightiness of rivers and the territory it drains—or does not drain.

As for cattle raising—a practical man of the Amazon, entirely familiar with the cattle business, says it would be criminal to permit any young man with money and energy to go and find the grave of both himself and his cattle. These men in their ignorance, stinging flies, gnats, mosquitoes, ants that destroy villages and towns, and the like, will be the death of him.

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS.
Frederick Stahl is a socialist. He lives in a South Broadway boarding house. Jack Wenzel, a young anarchist, is his room-mate. Alice, daughter of the boarding-house keeper, Jack is an engineer's assistant, earns a comfortable salary. Amalie, his wife, is a nurse. She is a socialist. Amalie is saving his money and when there is $1000 in it, she is to be married. Fred is a police officer. He is very popular. He has work at resorts in the attic of 2 houses across the street. He is a socialist writer. He is the author of a socialist name Max Ehrmann. He is thrown into prison, dead and mangled. At a socialist meeting he is elected to the Socialist party. He who speaks on socialism. He accompanies her to her home on South Broadway and is leaving her when a policeman arrests him for complicity in the death of Ehrmann.

CHAPTER III.

The Socialist Delegation.

A LUCE REBERMAN was the product of strange conditions. She was born of German parents in that old stone house on the bluff above Broadway. Her mother died when she was very young. Her father became her care and her hero. He was an ingenious machinist, a careful, thrifty man, a good worker. He was a Socialist. He read a great deal in the literature of his native land and kept aloof from Anglo-Saxon influences. His English was difficult even after 35 years' residence in St. Louis, and Alice, born here, and educated in the Monroe School, used German idioms in her English speech.

All that he could bring within reach old Fred, a man of ambition, collectivism and socialism. He had at last given his adherence to the socialist program and joined a group. Whatever he read he discouraged on to Alice and she had accepted and absorbed his philosophy. She had even gone farther than he in enthusiasm for the cause, having caught a romantic fervor from the stories of the work done and done for the people of Russia for social amelioration. To her ardent nature these stories appealed strongly and she became a propagandist of her father's creed even at school.

It was quite an accident which led her to speak at Concordia, where so young a woman had never before been heard. Bundt had seen her enter with a party of friends and remembered that night she was at school she had insisted on reciting passages from an essay on wealth, by Koppinger, instead of some other. She had been for her by the teacher. There had been a general protest over the incident and Bundt had become involved as a defender of the girl and a prosecutor before the board of education of the teacher for opposition. He wanted to hold his audience until Winters should come and asked her to recite. She said she would speak and he had accepted her as a novelty with glee.

She found, her father reading and re-pouched him for not having gone to the meeting. He laughed at her anger. "I am so tired and wouldn't go to hear even you speak," he said. "Did speak. Bundt asked me and I got up there on the stage because I was indignant at Mr. Stahl who praised that anarchist, Ehrmann. But when I tried to say what I thought I found that I sympathized with his views. He didn't mean to exactly praise the anarchist, but to give him credit for trying to do something for humanity even if he was wrong. And so I just talked about the effect of the reforms we're trying to bring about on women."

"Then the women listen to you?" Her father smiled quizzically.

"Yes, and the men, too, and applauded. Mr. Stahl came home with me and oh, father, a policeman arrested him at our steps for having something to do with Ehrmann's death."

"Impossible." The old German leered to his feet. "What fools the police are. Stahl knew nothing of it. Nobody knew but Ehrmann and—"

"Whom, father?"

"Myself. Yes, I must tell. Come, get my coat and hat, I must go to the police. They are such fools that if they see something they can't understand they say it is an anarchist." He was right.

He read a great deal in the literature of his native land and kept aloof from Anglo-Saxon influences. His English was difficult even after 35 years' residence in St. Louis, and Alice, born here, and educated in the Monroe School, used German idioms in her English speech.

All that he could bring within reach old Fred, a man of ambition, collectivism and socialism. He had at last given his adherence to the socialist program and joined a group. Whatever he read he discouraged on to Alice and she had accepted and absorbed his philosophy. She had even gone farther than he in enthusiasm for the cause, having caught a romantic fervor from the stories of the work done and done for the people of Russia for social amelioration. To her ardent nature these stories appealed strongly and she became a propagandist of her father's creed even at school.

It was quite an accident which led her to speak at Concordia, where so young a woman had never before been heard. Bundt had seen her enter with a party of friends and remembered that night she was at school she had insisted on reciting passages from an essay on wealth, by Koppinger, instead of some other. She had been for her by the teacher. There had been a general protest over the incident and Bundt had become involved as a defender of the girl and a prosecutor before the board of education of the teacher for opposition. He wanted to hold his audience until Winters should come and asked her to recite. She said she would speak and he had accepted her as a novelty with glee.

She found, her father reading and re-pouched him for not having gone to the meeting. He laughed at her anger. "I am so tired and wouldn't go to hear even you speak," he said.

"Did speak. Bundt asked me and I got up there on the stage because I was indignant at Mr. Stahl who praised that anarchist, Ehrmann. But when I tried to say what I thought I found that I sympathized with his views. He didn't mean to exactly praise the anarchist, but to give him credit for trying to do something for humanity even if he was wrong. And so I just talked about the effect of the reforms we're trying to bring about on women."

"Then the women listen to you?" Her father smiled quizzically.

"Yes, and the men, too, and applauded. Mr. Stahl came home with me and oh, father, a policeman arrested him at our steps for having something to do with Ehrmann's death."

In Full Dress.

"Gosh all hemlock!" snorted Uncle Silas, backing away from the door.

"What is the trouble, sir?" queried the footman.

"I thought I was gittin' in the ball room an' I came within sight of buttin' right in there to the ladies' dressing room."

"That's what the ladies' dressing room," responded the footman, "it is the ball room."—Houston Post.

MARLIN, Tex., March 8.—The non-appearance of Beckley, Shay, Brain and McFarland is causing some uneasiness in the Cardinals' camp. Nothing has been heard from the quartet since the arrival of the team here. Stanley Robison says he has nothing more than that they were reported at Marlin, but nothing definite.

Brain, who is slated to be field captain, was last heard from at Hot Springs. Beckley has been wintering at Los Angeles, as has Shay. McFarland's whereabouts is unknown here except that he was at San Antonio, Tex., a week ago. Manager Nichols could give no reason to day why the men had not reported, but said he expected them any day.

There was but little chance for practice the second day. The candidates trotted out to the baseball park, but a shower put an end to operations.

Kellum, the new twirler from Cincinnati, a left-hander, put a few over, but was somewhat discomfited when Jack Taylor lit into him over the left field fence. The first home run of the season.

Campbell, another left-hander from Louisville, was tried out. He looks and acts like a winner. He was, in fact, so willing to shoot them over fast that Nichols had to pull him off. Warner, the former New York Giants' backstop, took part in the practice and all hands ceased operations to witness his work.

Today's final will be a game between two nines plucked from the 21 men here.

HAKO, THE JAP, WILL MEET AMERICAN WRESTLER.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BALTIMORE, March 8.—Haku-Jitsu against American will be the main feature of the demonstration tonight, when Hako, the Japanese wrestler will tackle "Columbus," the featherweight champion, in Baltimore. The Japanese is a wiry little fellow, slightly taller and several years older than "Columbus," but the same weight almost to a pound. It will be a good test because the men are equally matched.

MARATHON CASE IS UP AGAIN

C. J. P. Lucas Requests President McCabe of A. A. U. to Reopen Lorse Case.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 8.—President J. B. McCabe of the Amateur Athletic Union will be in the city today. At the request of Charles J. P. Lucas of St. Louis, McCabe will take up with Secretary James E. Sullivan the case of Red Lorse, the Mohawk A. A. athlete, who was recently reinstated by the Western association of the A. A. U.

Lorse was suspended last summer for his actions in the Marathon race at the Olympia games. He was suspended over part of the course in an automobile and then insisted on circling the track at the rate of 100 yards, against the protest of the race officials.

Lorse, according to Lucas, admitted riding in the automobile. He was reinstated on the condition that he was to ride when he finished the race. Lucas thinks the punishment meted out to Lorse was ridiculous and inadequate.

FELTZ, OUTCLASSED, FOULS WALSH AND ENDS BOUT.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BOSTON, Mass., March 8.—Tommy Feltz lost to Jimmy Walsh on a foul in the tenth round of what was scheduled as a fifteen-round bout at the Douglas Athletic Club, Chelsea, last night. Feltz was outclassed throughout the bout, although at times he took the lead, but on his briefings for a moment or two. In the third round Walsh had him going, but did not have the punch. In the tenth round, when Feltz knew he was all in, he resorted in hitting low, until he was disqualified.

Sport Queries.

Longwood, batting Nelson and Young Corbett have fought twice. Nelson for Corbett's benefit, each time.

On Saturday, the 12th, the 1904 for Parent and Wallace were $21 and $20, respectively.

The indoor meet scheduled for March 15 will be the fifth annual affair given under the auspices of the St. Louis University Athletic Association.

BROWNS TRAINING IN BOWLING ALLEYS

Rain Prevents Outdoor Work—Starr From McAleer's Home Town Looks Good.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DALLAS, Tex., March 8.—A continual downpour of rain prevented training work for the Browns. The tribe of Moser spent the day in the round table, the billiard or playing pool and billiards. Tennis and croquet were also indulged in to prevent stiffness stealing into muscles that are all too sore now for comfort.

One man here with the Browns who is working for a regular berth but who has been generally overlooked is Charley Starr, a catcher. Starr is from Youngstown, McAleer's home town, and has been playing independent ball for a year. He is of medium height but well built and handles himself like a real ballplayer.

Starr has a good whip, throws well to his bat and stands up behind the bat as he belonged there.

Swan, the Shreveport pitcher, has shown his great speed and has been a surprise many to find him registered off soon. Stillman, who pitched for Des Moines last year, is a doubtful quantity. Edmonson, Vandy, and Koenig are having a warm race for a job in the garden, and Frisk leading at the eighth pole.

George Stoen, the star waltz artist from New Orleans, arrived Tuesday night. He is the tallest man in the team excepting, perhaps, Tom ones.

DID COE USE BAG OF SHOT?

A. A. U. Officials Hear That New England Man's Record Was Not Made Under Rules.

NEW YORK, March 8.—News received by officials of the Amateur Athletic Union, indicating that the world's indoor record of 49 feet 10 inches was putting the shot, recently made by W. W. Coe, Jr., at Medford, Mass., will not be allowed. Information that reached these officials is to the effect that Coe used a bag of shot instead of a metal sphere in competition.

Application for the record from Herbert Holt of the Boston Athletic Association was rejected yesterday by James E. Sullivan, president of the A. A. U. Mr. Sullivan immediately sent for further information before submitting the application to the board of governors for approval.

Experts say that if Coe used a bag of shot, he would have to break the record in order that he could manipulate it in such a way as to add materially to the distance of the put.

SPORT BRIEFS

At the annual meeting of the Western Golf Association in Chicago, yesterday night the association decided to extend the duration and take in the Pittsburgh clubs and all clubs south and west of Pittsburgh. The new rule will be the use of a blue cup, won by a western golf team at the Glen View Club of Chicago. The Olympic trophy, which is gold, will be given at the St. Louis Exposition, is made an annual contest cup. Twenty-eight clubs were represented at the meeting. Alan Reid of the Chicago Golf Club was elected president.

At a recent meeting of amateur golfers who organized the Innisfail Hunt Club, and other golf clubs south of the 49th parallel, the World's Fair, rode part of the distance and all clubs south and west of Pittsburgh. New York officials of the Amateur Athletic Union have received complaints from St. Louis, that the recent indoor record of 49 feet 10 inches in shot putting was made under rules which do not allow the regulation metal sphere enclosed in a leather bag.

McCabe, according to Lucas, admitted riding in the automobile. He was reinstated on the condition that he was to ride when he finished the race. Lucas thinks the punishment meted out to Lorse was ridiculous and inadequate.

"HOPPY" GALLAGHER LOSES TO DEATH

Well-Known Pitcher Played With Many Professionals During His Career.

The funeral of Anthony Gallagher, well-known ball player, took place this afternoon from the family residence, 245 North Fifteenth street. The remains were interred in Calvary Cemetery.

Gallagher died Monday after a lingering illness. His sister, who nursed him, says that poor "Hoppy" "played ball" to the last. Shortly before he died he went through the motion of delivering a baseball with his left arm, and would then turn up both hands to receive the ball.

"Hoppy" was unfortunately bested when he beat his old schoolroom companions while attending the Jackson School. When playing baseball, on the average, he had the ball for a long time after it was in his hands.

"When the ball finally came back the pitcher picked it up again for something and then gave me two low incurves, at which I made futile swings.

"I have reduced you a few hundred, but will be at a terrible expense to take you all the way to California and back again on the training trip and just what an advantage this will be to you. It will cost you a lot of money to make such a doubtful trip and this is what that is new and instructive will be brought before you. Just think of the grand scenario."

This letter staggered the player and he does not care to bind himself to the profession. However, he has given his word to Manager Loran that he will in no way violate the provision of his contract as long as he continues in the game. And Manager Loran says that Gallagher has adopted the ministry as his choice of profession.

James A. Hart of Chicago, whose players are training in California, sent a contract to a certain one of his players and other to explain why the figures were less than he had asked for something and then gave me two low incurves, at which I made futile swings.
